Important notes for costs

- Prices are subject to change without previous notice.
- Tecnológico de Monterrey generates its final costs on a semester basis, so the prices here presented are close estimates of the final price. The differences between these estimated costs and the final ones will be minimal.
- Prices given in US Dollars are only for reference purposes only and do not represent the actual cost since variations on the exchange rate happen every day. Tecnológico de Monterrey will only charge tuition and any other fees or services in Mexican pesos, even though the payment can be made in US Dollars at the exchange rate of the day of payment.
- Residence Halls costs are based on a double room with air conditioner.
- The Host Family Program includes three daily meals, thus you may disregard the meals estimate given separately.
- Living expenses are approximate and include: social, academic and personal expenses, however travel money is not included.
